EnCase Enterprise can be used for many different things, but its use can generally be categorized into one of three different categories:

| Incident Response | Investigations | Litigation/e-Discovery |

Depending on what type of task you need to perform, each category has different recommended steps. The following steps are just the initial recommended actions you can take at the offset of your investigation. These steps are not meant to be inclusive of everything you could do in a particular situation, but rather, a starting point and guide to get you started.
